Colonel Walter Scott Again
Heads Organization Which Seeks to Increase Its Fund

The annual meeting of the Free Industrial School for Crippled Children, 471 West Fifty-seventh Street, and the John Thorley Home for Crippled and Deaf Children, Claverack, N. Y., was held in the assembly room of the Waldorf-Astoria on Thursday evening.

After the reports of the officers were read and approved and the regular business transacted, the following were elected for the ensuing year: Colonel Walter Scott, president; Mrs. Charles Thorley, first vice-president; Mrs. Frank Jefferson Blodgett, second vice-president; Mrs. Nicholas M. Pond, third vice-president; Mrs. Jeannette C. Jones, treasurer; Mrs. Amelia D. Campbell, recording secretary; Mrs. E. Ellwood Briggs, auditor; Mrs. M. Eleanor Bullard, superintendent.

An entertainment of music and refreshments was provided by Colonel Scott, who has been president of the society since the death, several years ago, of the founder, Mrs. Arthur Elliot.

The treasurer's report showed a substantial gain over previous years. The perpetual fund, due to several legacies, perpetual patrons and life memberships, now amounts to approximately $132,000, but Colonel Scott will not be satisfied until it has reached at least $200,000, which will guarantee a fixed income for perpetuating this work of educating crippled girls and boys. Through the course of instruction and useful professions taught they are in a measure able to overcome the tremendous handicap with which they started life. One hundred new members were added through the four classes—perpetual patrons, life, contributing and active memberships.
